COUNCIL REQUESTED FOR AN ELECTION ON BOND ISSUE FOR BUILDING A SCHOOL

Board of Education Asks That Date be Fixed on November 22

SEE MILL TAX ALSO WILL BE VOTED ON

Board of Revenue Asked to Call an Election on the Same Day

Petition from the board of education to the Albany city council requesting the council to call an election on November 22 to authorize the issue of bonds totalling $250,000 for erection of a new school building.

Petition for the county board of education, from the board of education, requests the former body to call an election on the same date to authorize the levy of an additional three school tax with which to keep interest on the bond issue and provide funds for the retirement of principal.

Calling of the election on the same date would materially reduce expense. Educational and civic groups are confident that the two petitions would be favorably acted upon by the voters. Additional school taxes are declared to be needed to care for the present overflow of students. Recently two temporary classrooms were built as an addition to the high school.

CONDITIONS POOR

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 4. —The worst conditions in any prison in Alabama were found at River Falls, where state convicts worked in the plants of the Horse Lumber Company, by the legislative investigating committee which completed an inspection Sunday of all the prisons and convict camps in Alabama. Despite the fact that a great improvement has resulted from activities of the convict department, members of the committee were satisfied with conditions.

Giants Ruling Favorites Over The Yankees

NEW YORK, Oct. 4. — Betting on the world's series probably winner is light, according to reports from Wall street pool rooms and other betting centers. In most places the Giants rule favorites at 6 to 5. Even money prevailed generally. One fan bet $500 at even money that Babe Ruth will slam out five home runs in the series. Another bet that Babe wouldn't hit a homer. One sportsman bet $20 to $1000 the Yankees would win four straight. A Giant rooster put up $25 against 500 that Arthur Nehf, Giant hurler, wins the first game. Another bet that George Kelly, Giant slugger, would out-hit Babe Ruth.

HARTSELLE MUCH PLEASED WITH THE SUNDAY EDITION

(Special to The Daily)

HARTSELLE, Oct. 4. — The Sunday edition of the Daily was eagerly sought and judged from the number seen perusing its columns was greatly appreciated.

Many expressions of commendation were heard on the part of the citizenship here, and the kiddies were delighted with the comics.

Your correspondent interviewed a number of the business and professional men, and below are some of the commendations freely given.

"A fine edition, and reflects great credit on the management, and I predict a great field of usefulness and instruction as well, for the promoters." —Peoples Drug Co., by J. L. Houston.

"Should be in every home in Morgan county. Its many features were surprising to me and compared favorably with the larger city dailies." —Sam Polyinsky, Cotton buyer.

"The Sunday edition of the Daily bore all the marks of patient and diligent preparation. Its field of usefulness will broaden as future editions come from the press, and its management are to be congratulated on the fine showing made in the initial edition." —E. L. Hays, Co. Supt. Education.

"A fine effort, and if it keeps up to the standard of the initial edition, will make for itself place in many of the homes where Sunday papers are looked forward to with great interest." —A. E. Jackson.

"By the splendid foundation laid in your Sunday edition, it at once bounded into popularity, and will broaden there in as future issues come forward. You deserve success, and will get it." —E. Simpson, P. M.

"Congratulations to you on the splendid showing made in your first Sunday edition." —Walter G. Johnston, County Agent.

"Was surprised and pleased with the Sunday edition: it was more than I expected, and reflected great credit on those who had its preparation in hand." —A. M. White, M. D.

"If you keep the pace you have started, up, you have already achieved success with the Sunday edition." —J. W. N. Booth, M. D.

COMMISSION TAKES UP COTTON RATE

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 4. —Because the general citation to all railroad rates will come up at the November session the public service commission Monday postponed until November the consideration of the special citation on the special commodities including coal, excepting cotton which will be taken up Tuesday.

The commission decided that a decision must be rendered regarding the transportation rates on cotton during this month because the movement is starting and if reductions are ordered later they would not benefit cotton shippers.

RESOLUTIONS ARE ADOPTED BY THE C. L. U. AGAINST POSTAL MERGER

Central Labor Union Opposes
Abolition of the Albany
Postoffice

RESOLUTIONS FOLLOW MERGER PLAN REPORT

"Would Work Great Injustice to Albany" Resolutions
Point Out

Resolutions adopted by the Central Labor Union in a regular meeting today were forwarded to government officials, calling on the postoffice department to continue the Albany postoffice. The resolution follows reports received here that plans were under consideration in Washington for the merger of the Albany and Decatur postoffices.

Petitions protesting against the abolition of the Albany office also have been circulated by interested business men and will be forwarded to Washington.

The resolution adopted by the Central Labor Union set forth that the abolition of the Albany office "would work a great injustice to the city, causing it, in a measure, to lose its identity and greatly retard the growth and prosperity of the city."

DECREASE IN RATES OPPOSED BY ROAD

(Montgomery Bureau Albany-Decatur Daily.)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 4. —Alabama railroads will face a serious situation and the public will suffer from a car shortage during the winter if railroad rates are reduced by the public service commission, according to the statement made to the commission Monday by J. M. Dewberry, assistant to the president of the Louisville and Nashville railroad.

Mr. Dewberry appeared in opposition to any change in the rates on telephone poles, a citation about which had been issued by the commission. He pointed out that for nine months ending with July the Louisville and Nashville railroad only earned sixty-one one hundredths of one percent on its book value and that the combined earnings of all railroads in Alabama for that period was 2 1/4%. He said more than twenty-eight per cent of the freight cars of his railroad were in bad order and the railroad does not have funds with which to repair them at this time. He appealed to the commission not to consider a decrease in railroad rates at this time and declared they are now suffering from a great burden of expenses in the form of wages, etc., which was placed upon them during the war.

DEPUTIES HUNTING GIRL'S ASSAILANT

(International News Service)

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 4. —Deputy sheriffs, after an all night hunt on Red Mountain, continued their search today for an unidentified negro, who attempted an assault on Thelma Kinard, 16 year old white girl, about 3 o'clock yesterday. The girl was returning to her home on the 27th road when attacked. Neighbors heard her screams and rushed to the rescue and frightened away her assailant. When she was found unconscious she revived and told officers that her assailant was a medium sized negro, dressed in overalls. He is believed to be in hiding on Red Mountain and a force of deputies are combing that region.

BOX CARS BURN

The Decatur fire department last night was called to extinguish a box car fire on the siding near the Louisville and Nashville freight depot. One car was burned and two others were damaged. All were empties.

MARINES ARE HOLDING FALL MANEUVERS NEAR FREDERICKSBURG: WHERE PRESIDENT CAMPED

The above illustration should recall to the memory of many veterans of the World War experiences which they went through a few years ago. The photographs were made near Fredericksburg, Virginia, where the United States Marines are going through their fall maneuvers. General Butler is in command of the 5,000 "Devil Dogs" encamped. The photographs show the Marines arriving at camp and their little city of "pup" tents, erected shortly afterward. Below is a field wireless operator keeping tabs on the movement of the army.

WEAKNESS SHOWED BEFORE THE FATAL VOYAGE OF ZR-2

(International News Service)

HULL, England, Oct. 4.—Weakness in the transverse girders of the dirigible ZR-2 had been revealed long before the fatal flight when two score British and American air sailors were killed, the coroner declared today in summarizing testimony given at the inquest.

Weakness in the transverse girders had been shown in tests in May, said the coroner. He based his declaration upon evidence introduced from experts. The inquest failed to establish definitely the cause of the disaster. The first verdict in the case of Lieutenant Little, one of the victims, was that he came to his death by accident. The evidence threw little light upon the real cause of the ZR-2 accident.

WATER COMPANY TO SPEND $25,000 ON IMPROVEMENT

The Alabama Water company soon will begin the erection of a million gallon sedimentation basin at the local pumping station, according to an announcement made here today by John B. Weakley, president of the company. The basin will involve an improvement of about $25,000, the announcement says, but Mr. Weakley declares when completed the local pumping station will be the equal of any in the South.

A certificate of analysis by the Piccard laboratories, of Birmingham, show the water supply in the Twin Cities to be free of b. coli.

Criminal Cases Set for Hearing During Next Week

All criminal cases in the Morgan County court are set for trial during the week, beginning October 10, it was announced today. Judge W. T. Lowe will preside.

PROBING CHARGES BANK HAD HAND IN TROUBLE IN HAITI

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Charges that the National City bank, of New York, was responsible for many of the difficulties which led to the occupation of Haiti by the United States marines, were to be investigated today by the special senate committee headed by Senator McCormick, of Illinois, when it met today to continue its probe of conditions in the island republic.

The committee will inquire into charges of cruelty lodged against officers and enlisted men of the marine corps and will investigate various allegations of financial and political malfeasance on the part of the civil administration.

All records of information concerning the military occupation of Haiti and San Domingo have been filed with the committee by the navy department and marine corps. The announcement was made today that the committee probably would proceed to Haiti to continue the inquiry after completing the examination of witnesses here.

Three Men Injured in Train Collision

Word reached here today of a collision of a North Alabama and an east bound Southern train near Sheffield last night. According to the information received here both engines were considerably damaged and Conductor Walker James, of the North Alabama train, was said to have been painfully, but not seriously, injured. The fireman and engineer also were said to have received slight injuries.

G. O. P. SENATORS WEIGH CAREFULLY SMOOT TAX PLAN

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4. — Senator Smoot's manufacturers sales tax plan is being weighed carefully today by the "tax bloc" formed on the Republican side since consideration of the pending tax revision bill was begun.

Among the Republican senators identified with the newest bloc are Senators Capper, McNary, Cooding, McCormick, McKinley, Lenroot, Cameron and Harrelld. Members of the bloc who were not foregathering daily in the Republican cloakroom of the senate, are meeting almost nightly at Senator Capper's residence. They now have three important phases of the tax situation under consideration. 1.—The Smoot plan. 2.—the proposed abolition of the higher income surtaxes and 3.—the repeal of the excess profits tax.

It is expected the next 24 hours probably will have an important bearing on the jumbled tax situation which has tied the Republican side of the senate in a confusing tangle of cross purposes and conflicting opinions.

Federal Guard For Miners Requested

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4. — Federal protection for the more than 130 miners held prisoners in the jails of West Virginia as a result of the recent civil war in that state was asked of President Harding today by a committee of United Mine Workers.

The committee was appointed last Saturday at a meeting held in Indianapolis and is acting under the instructions of a resolution asking for federal aid.

STATE LEGISLATURE IS CALLED TOGETHER IN A SPECIAL SESSION TUESDAY AFTERNOON

Eighteen Special Subjects Up for Consideration by State Solons

BATTLE OVER CEREAL BEVERAGES WARMING UP

Special Session May Last for the Full Legal Limit

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 4. — Special—Alabama's legislature convened in extraordinary session at the call of Governor Kilby at noon Tuesday. Shortly afterward the governor delivered to the law-makers a message in which he urged the recommitment of the twenty-five million dollar bond issue, the soldiers and sailors' poll tax amendment and the Mobile port amendment.

He also called upon the legislature to give favorable consideration to the cereal beverage bill, the bill providing for the substitution of tax records which have been stolen or lost and other measures which he included in his call.

Chief interest in the message centered about the provisions for the sale of cereal beverages and the substitution of tax records. In his statement regarding cereal beverages, Governor Kilby presented a brief in support of the measure and a copy of correspondence with Dr. W. B. Crumpton, president of the Anti-Saloon League, in which Dr. Crumpton declined to prepare a brief in opposition to the sale of cereal beverage.

Referring to the theft of the tax records in Coffee county, Governor Kilby branded it as one of the blackest pages in the state's history and requested authority to substitute records when such occurrences are reported.

Jefferson A. Carnley, member of the house from Coffee county, arrived in the city Monday morning and began fighting at once in opposition to the cereal beverage bill. He announced that he was unalterably opposed to the amendment of the prohibition laws in such a way as to permit the sale of non-alcoholic beverages, contending that any elimination of sections of the prohibition law would be accepted as a weakening of the position of prohibition in Alabama.

Mr. Carnley also let it be known that he was determined to propose legislation which would provide for changes in the revenue and tax laws. "I come to the legislature this time as the representative of persons on the outside," said Mr. Carnley, "but I have the consolation of knowing that there are a large number of persons on the outside with me."

Mr. Carnley has taken a prominent part in the organization of the tax payers' league. He did not indicate what bills he would propose for the amendment of the tax and revenue laws.

The senate was called to order by Lieutenant Governor Miller at 12:15 p. m. Roll call showed a quorum present. The secretary read the 20 articles which necessitated the call of an extra session. Committees were appointed to act jointly with the house committee to notify the governor, the senate was ready to transact business.

Resolutions were adopted favoring Henry Ford's offer concerning Muscle Shoals. The senate adjourned until 3 o'clock in respect for Senator W. D. McCurdy, former senator from Calhoun, now deceased. The house was called to order by Speaker S. A. Lynne, of Morgan County, at 12:06 p. m., following which subordinate officers were elected.

A committee was appointed to notify the governor the legislature was ready to transact business. Among early bills introduced follows:

To appropriate funds to pay expenses of the extra session.

To provide for having measures passed on by judges of the Supreme court.

To repeal the law creating the state law enforcement department. To reduce salaries of judges of the supreme court to their former status.

To reduce salaries of circuit judges to former status.

To amend the act dividing the state

IS CLEMENCEAU AGAIN TO BECOME A FRENCH LEADER

Is Clemenceau, the Tiger, again to become a great national figure in France? He was the first of the three outstanding figures in world thought, following the war, to fall. Woodrow Wilson followed and now Lloyd George alone retains his dominant position. The British Premier has not kept his leadership without considerable fighting either, for the British political waters have been troubled ever since the war ended.

Sunday Clemenceau made his first public utterance in nearly two years. His following, while suffering from more or less disorganization because of the Tiger's defeat for French leadership, seems far from being utterly routed. Soon they expect to found a newspaper which will reflect the thought of the Clemenceau school.

The Tiger is convinced that France has not reaped the benefits due her as a result of the victorious war against Germany. Perhaps the Tiger is right. The reaction felt in this country against the war likely has affected other nations also and Germany has escaped in a degree the punishment for her sins which she so richly deserved. Whether the Tiger will find France as willing to listen to him as she was in the days of the conflict, when all the allied nations were fired by an intensely patriotic spirit and an equally as intense hatred of the Hun, is another matter.

Another point in which Americans will find more or less interest is in the possible effect the new developments abroad may have on the coming disarmament conference in Washington. Lloyd George is declared in press dispatches to desire a postponement of the conference, in order that he may be given a chance to settle the Irish question, prior to the meeting, and thereby be hailed with greater acclaim than is Premier Briand.

Should Clemenceau realize his hopes in the meantime, undoubtedly he will drive Briand into oblivion. In that case David Lloyd George will be pitted against the Tiger, instead of the present French premier. The Welshman will find no mean opponent. A postponement might prove more detrimental than advantageous.

EX-SHERIFF McCULLOCH

In the passing of R. N. McCulloch, Morgan county lost a good citizen. He was a man who counted his friends by thousands, all of whom will miss the kindly man who had served them faithfully. His private and public life was an open book, and he left a record that will bear fruit for the betterment of men. As a husband and father he measured up to high standards. As an officer, none were better. He discharged his duty fearlessly, tempering the use of his powers with consideration for all, but inflexible in discharging his duty, regardless of consequences. Dick McCulloch will live long in the hearts of those among whom he moved, and the general public has suffered an irreparable loss.

FINE NEWSPAPER

The editor, and the entire force of the Albany-Decatur Daily are to be congratulated upon the splendid 30 page newspaper which they printed yesterday at the launching of their new Sunday morning venture.

The paper, in every department, reflects credit upon the men who made it and the business men who made it possible for the newspaper to make it. It is the biggest little newspaper we have seen in some time and if the standard set in the initial issue is maintained by the Sunday paper it will deserve the united patronage of the people of the Twin Cities and surrounding territory.

Editor Shelton is a newspaper man of sterling ability and he has around him a splendid corps of able and loyal co-workers.

The News extends heartiest congratulations and good wishes to the Sunday Albany-Decatur Daily.—Florence Daily News.

ALBANY-DECATUR DAILY'S
NEW SUNDAY MORNING ISSUE

Greetings, yes a thousand times and congratulations of the warmest nature do we enthusiastically extend to our good friends and neighbors, the esteemed Albany-Decatur Daily which blossomed out yesterday with a Sunday morning issue. The effort was highly creditable, carrying thirty-two well patronized pages, including a handsome four page comic section. The Albany-Decatur Daily has always been a favorite with The Daily Times and it gives us pleasure at this time to say that it is one of the best, cleanest and most progressive daily newspapers in the country. We do not only commend it to the most favorable consideration of its constituents but we congratulate them on its valued possession.—Huntsville Daily Times.

Petitions have been made to the Albany Council for a bond issue of $25,000 and to the County Board of Revenue for a 3-mill school tax election, to be held simultaneously. It is a safe prediction that there will be little if any opposition. Your children and those of your neighbor will be the beneficiaries. These little ones must have school advantages to fit them for life's affairs and must be given every opportunity possible and it is up to you to see they have them.

The man who tends the furnace soon may be heard to sing again: "All that glitters isn't gold; all that looks it isn't coal."

One business man who has made a success of advertising says he's like the negro preacher who declared "de moah de congregashun wants ter sleep, de loudah I talks."

A billion dollars of new wealth in the South as a result of the increase in the price of cotton is another way of spelling better times.

Thank you for the many kind expressions on The Daily's first Sunday edition. Newspapers are more human than you suppose. They appreciate encouragement as well as individuals.

A commissioners race, with one woman candidate, a state fair and a semi-centennial celebration should keep Birmingham fairly well occupied for a couple of months.

Frank Harris has the right idea. It takes co-operation on the part of advertisers, as well as work on the part of The Daily staff, to publish a Sunday paper of which you will be proud.

Jack Frost will be reminding us that Thanksgiving is approaching. A holiday that the bankers are not alone in sharing.

A Sunbeam in thine eye will prevent thee seeing the mote in thy brother's eye.

Some persons are thought a lot of, but the thoughts employed are very unpleasant ones.

FRED LITTLEFIELD SUGGESTS HOLDING
TABERNACLE FAIR
OCTOBER 17 TO 22

Plan Outlined to Local Merchants and Opinion is Requested

WOULD STAGE FASHION EXHIBITS AS WELL

Room for Forty Booths in the Building, Littlefield Estimates

Fred B. Littlefield, who has had much experience in the show business, has written local merchants asking their opinion on plans to stage a free fair and pure food show here, October 17 to 22. Mr. Littlefield suggests that the show be held in the tabernacle, which was recently purchased by the Albany-Decatur Community Club.

The plan offered by Mr. Littlefield is the only chance for a fair in the Twin Cities this fall. Should the merchants vote favorably it is expected that a meeting will be called at an early date in regard to the matter. The letter of Mr. Littlefield follows: To the Merchants:—

In the editorial column of yesterday's Albany-Decatur Daily we read the following:

"And still our neighboring cities have their annual fall fairs, while we do not. Isn't it about time we gave some consideration to staging an exhibition of our own?"

Why not? Is it lack of progressiveness or are we all just waiting for some one to take the initiative? The writer thinks it is the latter. Most of us had an awful case of fright over the drop in cotton. Now we learn again that things are never quite as bad as they seem. Cotton is selling around 20 cents and business is picking up.

The writer visited many towns this summer in Tennessee, Kentucky, Indiana and Ohio and know of none that have held their own as well as Albany and Decatur. In the majority visited over 50% of the industries were closed down. What few men were laid off here had little effect on the prosperity of this community.

There are very few idle men here—we all have a little money to spend. Are you making any special effort to get your share of this trade?

It is too late now to attempt a fair on as large a scale as our neighboring cities, but we can have a Merchant's Free Fair and Pure Food Show, demonstrating and advertising what we have for sale.

The Tabernacle is an ideal place, having been taken over by the Albany-Decatur Community Club for the housing of anything "For the Good of the Community."

Time is short and necessitates immediate action and a vigorous campaign of advertising which the writer is capable of engineering. It is a "Live Wire" proposition for the progressives. Your dealers will gladly co-operate with you.

There is room for about forty booths and a large stage for orchestra and Fall Fashion Show. The booths are ten by fifteen feet giving ample space for all practically purposes.

The writer, who has had a varied experience in the promotion of such affairs, suggests the week of October 17 to 22. Let's make every day a "Trade Day."

The probable cost would be about $25.00 for each booth, covering cost of remodeling the interior of the Tabernacle, replacing in its present condition, advertising etc.

Please mail the enclosed card at once. The courtesy of a reply "for or agin' it" will be appreciated. Let's show North Alabama we're still on the map.

Very truly,
Fred B. Littlefield.

L. C. Harrison, cashier, Churchill Compress, 451 Grant street, says: "I have found Doan's Kidney Pills to be a very satisfactory medicine and I am glad of the opportunity to endorse them. I had been suffering from a lame and painful back for some time and my kidneys acted irregularly, too. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills being so good and I got a box and used them as directed. HOUSE DIVIDED

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 4.—A house divided against itself will be the legislature of Alabama, which convened Tuesday at noon in extraordinary session to consider 18 important issues included in the call of Governor Kilby with a probability of several lesser ones to be introduced by members of the two houses.

It is impossible to know at this stage of the game just the length of time the making and unmaking of these laws will consume, but it is predicted that a stiff fight will be waged the entire session which will very probably last to the legal limit of 30 legislative days.

At the beginning of the world war the records of the British Army showed 9 cases of tetanus per 1,000 wounded. The use of anti-tetanus serum gradually reduced the ratio to 0.7 per 1,000, and among those infected the disease was of a far less fatal character than before this treatment was introduced.

To the Patrons of the Alabama Water Company:

We publish in these columns from time to time an analysis of the water furnished to our patrons. This analysis is made by the Picard Laboratories in Birmingham, where the best and most accurate work that we know of can be obtained. We want our patrons to know that we are carefully guarding their water supply.

Nothing remains to be done at our Decatur Plant except to provide for a clearer water supply in time of flood in the Tennessee River. To meet this situation, and to protect our consumers, we will shortly begin the erection of a million gallon sedimentation basin at the Pumping Station, which will involve an improvement of about $25,000. When this is completed, the local water plant will be the equal of any in the South.

Why The First Aid To Good Health Is Pure Blood

Waste Products in the Blood Cause Many Forms of Rheumatism, Skin Disorders, and A Lowered Vitality.

Many People Do Not Understand Nature's Warning.

When you have that feeling of fatigue; when you lack the energy you need for the day's duties and pleasure; when you are troubled with pimples, blackheads, bad boils, sores or some other skin eruption; or when you have rheumatic pains in the muscles and joints, don't wait until you collapse in a state of nervous prostration, or until in your weakened condition you contract some serious disease, but start at once to get the waste products out of your blood. Nature has certain peculiar ways to warn us. Fortunately, indeed, is the person who knows her danger signals. Thousands and thousands of men and women during the past 50 years have relied on S. S. S. to clear their blood of waste products. S. S. S. will improve the quality of your blood by relieving you of the waste products which cause impoverished blood and its allied troubles—skin disorders, rheumatism and a lowered vitality. The same qualities which give S. S. S. its beneficial effect in clearing your blood of waste products make it extremely desirable for keeping your blood in good condition. S. S. S. may be had at any drug store. Write Chief Medical Director, Swift Specific Co., 715 S. S. S. Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga., and let him help you regain your health and strength. Give him a full description of your case. He is helping people every day (without charge). Ask him to send you his illustrated booklet, "Facts About the Blood"—free. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores.

Confidence

Your dealer has confidence when he buys and sells "V. V." products. He knows he is giving his customers the best. You have confidence when you send your children to buy household remedies or preparations. They can't get the wrong kind when they get "V. V." brands. The "V. V." dealer is usually a reliable dealer. Ask for the bottle with the "V. V." red shield.

MY MARRIAGE PROBLEMS

Revelations of a Wife

How Dicky Welcomed Bess Dean.

WHY had Bess Dean come to Cold Springs? The question puzzled me as I sauntered along the curving road with Junior clinging tightly to my hand, while Marion and the girl with whom my thoughts were occupied walked behind us. That, whatever her motive, she was bent upon making herself agreeable to every one I knew from the effort she was putting forth to entertain Marion—the child was in a gale of laughter before we had gone a few yards. And a distinct effort on my former colleague's part I knew it to be, for she is one of those teachers—successful in the more material sense of pedagogy—who rule their pupils with martinet discipline, and stage star performances in the line of final examinations, but who detect their charges cordially, and are the object of an equally ardent hatred upon the part of their victims—I think the word is a legitimate one. That she was "forced" almost to "smile" at me, I used frequently to hear upon her lips by Marion, I had no doubt, and her assiduous attention to the child made more insistent the question lurking beneath the hospitable attitude I had forced myself to adopt toward her.

Madge's Wish.

That Dicky was somewhere in her scheme of things I was sure, but I acquiesced her of any deep-seated interest in him. She is of a somewhat too cool blooded, too self-centred a nature to let any man away her interest or her emotions to any great extent. I finally decided that the story she had told me of reading my description of the region, and deciding to come to my aid as far as it went, but I was sure that the desire to avenge her vanity—her ruling weakness—of the wound given it by Dicky's refusal to let her pose for him, a refusal for which she justly held me responsible, had a great deal to do with her choice of this particular portion of the Catalina for the last two weeks of her vacation.

And I was more than sure that she would not rest until she had accomplished the object that had brought her. There was no melodrama in Bess Dean. I need fear nothing startling as the result of her visit, but I knew that until she left the section there would be a succession of petty pin-pricks for me, with the more than possibility of some bizarre and humiliating episode which should involve Dicky.

Civilization and the usages of polite society are terribly in the way sometimes. If I could have followed my primitive instinct and spoken my real thoughts I would have turned upon her, curtly bade her stop pretending to like Marion, and told her that entertaining her at the Cosgrove house was an impossibility. Instead, I joined smilingly in the conversation from time to time, and when we saw Dicky lounging at the gate waiting for us, lifted my voice and called him to hurry to meet her, as if she were a long-lost sister.

"This Is Too Much—"

Dicky is to be counted on in every social emergency. He always judges correctly the mentality and temperament of each person he meets, and tempers his greeting accordingly. To Miss Dean he was easy, friendly, exaggerated, as at my call, and after a swift look at her, he straightened from his lounging position and strode swiftly toward us.

"It isn't it! It can't be, but it is really you!" he said with an impressive calculation to make any woman unused to him believe that he had been thinking of nothing save her since he had last seen her.

He held out both his hands as he spoke, and took her entirely willing ones within his with an apparently fervent pressure. But I have seen him give exactly the same greeting to many women in the years since I married him, some attractive, some distinctly the opposite, some positive studio freaks. I knew that it meant absolutely nothing but his instinctive reading of the vanity of the women he had thus greeted. And I also caught a humorous, half-dismayed lifting of his eyebrows across Bess Dean's unconscious head, a marital signal, which meant: "Whatever shall we do with her?"

It was not with Dicky's reactions that I was concerned just then, but with Bess Dean's. I was curious to see how she took Dicky's greeting of her, and my opinion of her acuteness mounted several degrees as I saw that she recognized its exact worth.

She tipped her head saucily to one side and surveyed him with a quizzical glance. "You're quite overpowered, aren't you?" she said, with a malicious little smile. "Do you think you can stand the happy shock of knowing that I'm going to stay two weeks if I can find some one to take me?"

"Two weeks," Dicky echoed. "This is too much—happiness," he finished, after a mischievous pause. "But let us not stand here for all the yokels to gaze at our blissful reunion. Prithies, come with me to yonder seat beneath the forest monarch and relate to me the tale of your adventures and conquests since I saw you last. Good wife," loftily to me, with what was intended as an imitation of a mediaeval husband, "will you not see to rest and refreshment for our guest?"

I swept him a courtesy as he ushered Bess Dean to a rustic chair on the side lawn. And the resentment which I felt rising in my throat was in no whit animated by his exaggerated courtesy to the girl, but by the fact that, Dicky-like, he had distinctly "passed the buck"—in his own vocabulary—to me, of the vexed question of admitting Bess Dean to the Cosgrove circle of "select paying guests."

New Quick Way to Put on Firm Flesh

Thousands of weak, thin, pale and sickly people are now quickly putting on solid flesh and regaining rugged health and strength in an entirely new way.

This way is by taking vitamins into their systems. Vitamins are a mysterious giving substance, found to be absolutely necessary for perfect daily health. But most of our foods are lacking in them—that is why so many of us become thin and run-down.

Yeast has been found to contain billions of vitamins and is bringing incredible results in putting good flesh and muscle on thin people. No need to eat yeast cakes—simply take Ironized Yeast tablets, containing iron and highly concentrated brewer's yeast, the most efficient form of yeast. Pleasant to take—brings quick results.

"Indophen Blue" a New Shade.

"Indophen blue" is the name of the novelty over which the dye men are puffing out their chests like pouter pigeons and declaring that "American chemists are fully the equals of their German rivals in resourcefulness." In the present instance they have gone beyond, for try as they have the Germans have not obtained a blue of this type possessing all the desired properties.

The color is brighter and slightly more violet than indigo and closely resembles bromo-indigo. Its great resistance to light, surpassing that of indigo itself, is a property that delights the dyer, while it equals indigo in a number of other customary tests, including that of boiling.

This discovery will be greeted with applause by textile manufacturers.

Flowers Preserved in Ice.

A wreath of western Australian wild flowers recently arrived in England to be placed on the Unknown Warrior's grave in Westminster abbey. The wreath was frozen in a solid block of ice, and when the flowers were thawed they proved to be just as fresh as when they were gathered, in spite of their six weeks' journey through the tropics.

Do You Carry Life Insurance?

THE business man protects himself against the loss of his factory by means of fire insurance. For reasons much more imperative he should insure his family against the loss of his producing power by life insurance. The factory may never burn, but the man will die. Though the factory should burn uninsured, the owner might live to accumulate property worth many times its value. But if the man dies uninsured his family suffers an absolute and irreparable loss. Only through life insurance can this consequence be avoided. Life insurance does not insure life, but it does insure the productive value of a life, and it affords the only means possible for the vast majority of men to continue an adequate provision for their families after they themselves are dead. This is not only possible, but it is a duty. The law requires a man to provide for his wife and children, and the highest sentiments of noble manhood demand that he should also make provision for his widow and orphans.

MY MARRIAGE PROBLEMS
Adele Garrison's New Phase of Revelations of a Wife

The Temptation Madge Firmly Pat Down.

MRS. COSGROVE looked at me shrewdly, as I, with a hesitancy born of my own unwillingness to broach the subject, questioned her concerning the possibility of accommodating Bess Dean in her home for the remaining two weeks of the girl's vacation. The sweet-faced, kindly sister of Robert Savarin has grown very near to me during the summer days in which I have been a paying guest in her home, and I know that she genuinely likes me also. It is a feeling which with her as with me, goes back to the days when I first saw her, and, by a lucky accident, saved the artist's collection of pictures from the rapacious hands of the woman who pretended to be his wife. Robert Savarin's return to sanity dated from this time also, and—logically—Mrs. Cosgrove always has given me a great deal of credit for the lifting of the shadow from her idolized brother's mind.

I flushed a bit beneath her scrutiny, and she, with the directness I have found in the mountain people, the freedom which our close association has engendered, put her hand upon my shoulder. "It isn't a question of what I can do, my dear child," she said, "but of what you wish. I can make room for her easily. If Robert doesn't object, and he wouldn't, of course, to any guest of yours. But," she hesitated, "I am right in thinking that you are only asking this because you think you must be courteous to her for some reason, and that in reality you do not wish her to be here? For if that is the case I will tell her that I haven't a solitary place to put her. Just say the word."

Satisfactory Arrangements.

How tempted I was to "say the word" I did not realize myself until afterward. But not to Mrs. Cosgrove, dear and motherly as she was, could I reveal the reason for my reluctance to have Bess Dean become a member of our pleasant mountain family. And the remembrance of the mockery in the girl's eyes as she asked me if I perhaps considered her too disturbing an element braced me to answer my hostess' generous appeal with an appearance of sincerity.

"It's awfully good of you to be so considerate of me," I said breezily, "but, really, if you possibly can put her up I shall be very glad to see her, and I taught together for a year, and I am indebted to her for a great kindness to a dear friend of mine. I should be exceedingly disappointed if you could not find room for her."

"But I can," she said promptly. "As a usual thing, I don't take people in the farmhouse, but one of my bungalows will be empty today, so I'll put the twins out there and give your friend a room in the house. She might be afraid if she were alone in the cabin at night."

I reflected that I yet had to see the thing of which Bess Dean would be afraid, but I only thanked Mrs. Cosgrove heartily for her thoughtfulness and went back to the seat beneath the big tree where Dicky was bending with exaggerated attention over Bess Dean. "Everything's all set," I called cheerily as I came near them. I do not often indulge in Dicky's slang phrases, but I wished to emphasize which would emphasize of embellish my role of delighted hostess. "Mrs. Cosgrove can give you a room in the farmhouse, so Dicky, suppose you run Miss Dean over to the hotel and get her luggage."

"Come Along, Madge."

Bess Dean rose promptly to her feet, her lips smiling, but her eyes narrowing a bit, a trick I remembered when she was not quite pleased.

"So I won't be in one of those dinky cabins," she said easily, but I recognized the note of malice in her voice. "Did you tell the old girl she'd better keep me close under her eye?"

"No, she's a very keen observer," I retorted, laughing. "As she insisted upon a look at you through the window before she would take you at all. I think she labelled you 'dandy' but dangerous," and then assigned you the room. But let me give you a pointer—don't interfere with her arrangements or she is very likely to remember suddenly that she has promised the room to some one else and forgotten her promise for the moment."

I spoke nothing but the truth in my last words, for I had seen with much quiet amusement the clever subtleties which Mrs. Cosgrove used in getting rid of persons of whom she disapproved.

Bess Dean wrinkled her nose—a comical little gesture, which is oddly attractive when she does not do it too often—and looked up at Dicky contentedly.

"Well, if I'm to be shackled to a diuenna, you must promise to come and break my chains occasionally or I'll die of ennui."

Dicky struck the attitude of a melodramatic tenor, and bent himself upon the breast with a clenched fist.

"I will rescue you as many times a day as you wish," he declared, "but just now we'll rescue your luggage. Come along, Madge, drive your car down. The other one's away over in the garage."

My heart gave an unworthy little throb of triumph. Dicky was not enough interested in Miss Dean's opinion of us to take the trouble to get out his new car, of which he was immediately proud, and also, intentionally or unintentionally, had arranged for my company in the expedition for her luggage.

For the first time in her history the Summer of 1921 received Friday and Friday night a blow from Winter that has cooled her spirits into autumnal temperature—and light weight garments, straw hats, and other tokens of summer are being stowed away for another year—or in the garbage heaps.

R. E. Coburn, of Courtland, attended the meeting of the County Board of Education Friday.

W. E. Hotchkiss, of Courtland, was on business on Moulton and near Landerville Friday last.

Hal P. McDonald, of Walker county and Tim Walker, a former citizen of Lawrence but now of Haleyville, were in Moulton Saturday.

The streets of Moulton have been pretty well crowded with cotton during the past week and much of the staple is being hauled to the railroad.

Amusements

STAR WEDNESDAY

Thrills and laughter are happily combined in Dorothy Gish's latest Paramount comedy, "The Ghost in the Garret," which will be shown at the Star theater for beginning Wednesday next. That this is one of the best comedies in which Miss Gish has been seen for many months all her admirers will agree after they have seen the picture.

Miss Gish, in the story, is a poor girl who goes to the home of her wealthy uncle and aunt, taking her dog and parrot with her. The dog puts a fashionable party to rout and from that moment the action is not permitted to drag for an instant. Then comes the theft of a valuable pearl necklace by a society crook who flees with his booty to a haunted house where his pals are in hiding. Going in pursuit of the thief to protect her sweetheart who has been arrested for the theft, she finally recovers the jewels after a series of thrilling and laughable developments.

The charming star is excellently supported in the picture, her leading man being William E. Park. The crook is in the hands of Ray Gray. Others in the cast are Downing Clark, Mrs. David Landau, Frank Badgley, Tom Blake, Frank Hagney, William Nally and Porter Strong. The picture was directed by F. Richard Jones.

"FORBIDDEN FRUIT"

PRINCESS TUESDAY

"Forbidden Fruit" is another of those great dramas of married life which have given to Cecil B. DeMille the reputation of being the most brilliant and daring producer of photodramas which deal in a vital manner with the most vital subject of modern life.

In this production Mr. DeMille has taken a topic as old as human life is old, and yet as young as this day, and has blended the human thoughts and desires and motives and passions with such a subtle skill that as the characters flash upon the screen and enact their respective parts, it seems that they are men and women of flesh and blood, and that human hearts and souls have been laid bare until their throbbing joys and poignant passions are communicated to those who watch the unfolding of this great drama from their seats in front of the screen.

It is calculated that if all the land were washed down into the sea the entire globe would be covered with an ocean having an average depth of two miles.
